"The best way to get rid of a bad law is to enforce it."—General Grant.

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that our Congressman failed to send any seed under that particular label, many persons are raising hells in this district.

With Nebraska farmers paying off mortgages at the rate of a million dollars a month and investing their millions in farm machinery and other improvements, the free coinage proposition is having a hard time in that section, which has been assumed to be especially its own. Recent dispatches from Omaha say: "It is estimated that more than one million dollars a month have been leaving Nebraska for New York, Boston and Chicago for the past six months on the mortgage account, and the amount so leaving is daily increasing. All local loan companies insist that the farmers are liquidating too fast and that they will not borrow money at any price. Country merchants are laying in complete new stocks and farmers are buying improved machinery."

FOREIGN capital continues to flow into the United States in the interests of American workmen under the operations of the Dingley Protective Tariff. Silk factories are being established through New England and Pennsylvania, many of them taking the places of the cotton mills removed farther South. A representative of a Swiss silk-manufacturing firm, which employs 32,000 persons, has recently visited this country, inspecting three large manufacturing establishments which his firm is operating here, and says frankly that the Dingley Law has proved advantageous to the silk manufactures which that great concern now owns in the United States. His firm, SCHWABACH, HUBER & Co., has located three of its eight great establishments in the United States under the Protective Tariff system now in operation and is distributing enormous sums of money to the working-people in this country.

The dangers of introduction of yellow fever into the United States is another of the serious questions which President McKinley has to think of in considering the question of a war with Spain. That it would be necessary, under these conditions, to send troops to Cuba goes without saying, and that the American troops sent to that climate during the summer season now approaching would be subject to the climatic diseases which sweep men away despite the greatest precaution is also equally true. But that is not the most difficult question in this particular. With action of this character constant intercommunication between the United States and Cuba would be an absolute necessity and an observance of quarantine rules an utter impossibility.

WILL KNOCK IT OUT.

Meeting in Louisville Today to Test the Validity of Gobel's Law.

The result would almost certainly be the introduction of yellow fever into the United States, its spread from port to port, and the placing in danger of more lives of our own citizens than those constituting the entire population of Cuba. And this is only one of the numerous difficult problems confronting the President, who must realize keenly the grave personal responsibility attaching to his action which may result in not only all the horrors of war but other results of equal moment.

The Gold Reserve which under the Cleveland Free-trade Administration could not be kept up to $100,000,000 even by the issue of $202,000,000 worth of bonds, has now, under the McKinley Protective Tariff Administration, reached the sum of $172,000,295—and it's growing larger every day.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
This Remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects; and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by J. Jas. Wood, Druggist.

The Republican State Central Committee is in session at Louisville today. The meeting has been called to take final steps to test the Gobel Election Bill and the various political gerrymander bills in the Courts.

The Legislative Committee recently appointed to prepare an address showing up the iniquities of the Gobel Bill and other partisan measures passed by the adjourned Free-soil Legislature will also make its report.

The address will be a caustic arraignment of the Legislature and its principal agent, will embody a copy of the Gobel Bill, together with Governor Bradley's vote message.

It will be signed by Senators W. H. Jones of Warren, John Bennett of Richmond and R. M. Jolly of Breckinridge, and by Representatives J. P. Hawell of Breckinridge, R. C. Meyers of Greenv and Charles F. Ogden of Louisville.

Charles Sallee, who has relatives in this section, died recently near Locust Grove, Bracken county.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or in perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Commodore W. S. Schley

Will Be the Commander of the Flying Squadron.

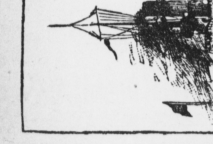

Fleet Will Probably Be Swelled to About a Dozen Ships.

THE ST. PAUL AND ST. LOUIS, Of the American Line, Will in All Likelihood Be Added to the Command.

These Fast Flying Vessels Will Be Transferred to Formidable Fighting Machines—The Spanish Torpedo Flotilla Will Likely Be Intercepted.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Commodore Willard Scott Schley, at present connected with the light house, has been ordered to command the flying squadron at Hampton Roads with the Brooklyn as his flag ship.

UNITED STATES WARSHIPS COMPOSING THE SQUADRON AT HAMPTON ROADS.

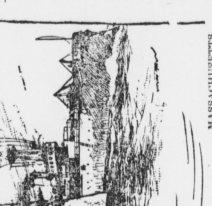

Commodore Schley received the news of his assignment at the Light House board where he was engaged in closing some of the work of the bureau. He expects that it will be a day or two before he finishes his work here and takes command of the squadron. His command at present comprises three vessels, the Brooklyn, Columbia and Minneapolis, all ocean greyhounds, but in a short time his squadron probably will be swelled to about a dozen ships. Commodore Schley refused to talk at all concerning rumors that the flying squadron might be sent out to intercept the Spanish torpedo boat flotilla. He said that was a matter concerning which he could say nothing at all.

Commodore Schley has a fine record for discretion, good judgment and fighting qualities. He was in command of the Baltimore during the Chilean troubles that threatened to end in war and that it had a peaceful termination it is believed was due largely to his tact and discretion. The three vessels at present under his command are all swift cruisers and among the others which probably will be added to his command are the St. Paul and the St. Louis of the American line, which were built so that they could be turned into efficient fighting machines at a few days' notice. These vessels have not been impressed as yet, but arrangements have been perfected between the government and President Grison so that no delay will result as soon as the fleet is ready to sail. It is expected that the officers who it is expected will be assigned to the command of the St. Paul and the St. Louis.

Two battle ships are on their way to add to the fighting strength of the flying squadron. They are the Texas and the Massachusetts. One of them may reach Hampton Roads Friday and the other should be there Saturday. The Massachusetts is a first-class battle ship of 10,225 tons displacement, while the Texas is a second-class battle ship of 6,115 tons. Both are heavily armed and will add immensely to the strength of the squadron. They are less speedy than the cruisers which naturally would do the scouting while the battle ships would bear the brunt of the hot work of battle.

Commodore Schley visited the navy department before noon, and after a talk with assistant Secretary Roosevelt, said he would assume command of the flying squadron Monday. The formal orders, posted at the department Friday, stated that Commodore W. S. Schley was detached from his present service with the Light House board, and was ordered to command the flying squadron, cruiser Brooklyn, flagship, was the first public admission of the navy department of the creation of a flying squadron. The fact that this squadron was contemplated has been well known, but until Friday the navy department defined its character. The designation of "flying" has a distinct meaning in naval parlance. It will mean north and south, east and west across an ensue and gave the spectacle $50,000,000 for defense, is the spectacle today of the great leaders promising to uphold the president's hand in his present purpose to befriended poor Cuba.

A SERIES

Of Important Engagements in Puerto Principe Province.

HAVANA, March 25.—An official dispatch from Gen. Luque to Gen. Blanco, just received, gives news of a series of important engagements in Puerto Principe province, in which over 3,000 men were engaged on each side. The Cubans used dynamite bombs. Artillery was also used with terrible effect by both armies. Gen. Luque reports the killing of Capt. Torte, of his army, Capt. Lionell and Lieut. Tudela were so badly wounded that there are little hopes that they will live. Maj. Camero and Molina were wounded and 2 soldiers killed, 25 wounded and 6 horses killed, Gen. Luque says the Cubans sustained enormous losses.

SPANISH REPORT

Of the Explosions of the Maine in the Harbor of the Spanish Antilles.

MADRID, March 25.—The Spanish minister of marine, Adm. Bermejo, was engaged all night long deciphering the dispatch from the admiral in command in Cuban waters, containing complete details of the findings of the Spanish court of inquiry into the loss of the Maine.

Parties cognizant of the affair unanimously declare the Spaniards report that the explosion which wrecked the battle ship was of internal origin.

Activity at the Mare Island Navy Yard.

VALLEJO, Cal., March 25.—Great activity prevails at the Mare Island navy yard. The cruiser Philadelphia, which has been hauled from the stream and lies alongside the quay wall, near the Charleston, is being repaired. The ship has also been towed to the wall and all three ships fairly swarm with men at all hours. The Charleston is being repaired and will be ready to go into commission in a comparatively short time. The Yorktown, too, is nearly ready for sea, and the purchase of supplies for both are now being made.

To Put on Our War Face.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The absolute evidence that the president expects the commencement of hostilities with Spain in a very few days was given Friday night. Secretary Long after the closing of the navy department, which he presided over, pointed in this country where American war vessels are located: "Paint every ship in the North Atlantic squadron black." The Spanish boats are black. White is our peace paint, and black will be our fighting paint.

Deficiency in the Pension Fund.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The secretary of the interior sent to the house Friday an estimate calling for appropriations of over $5,000,000 to meet a deficiency in the pension fund. Of this amount $2,000,000 is credited to the lack of last year's appropriations and the other $3,000,000 to large increases, restorations and new pensions granted. This brings the estimates so far submitted for incorporation into the general deficiency bill to about $14,000,000.

Six More Boats Fought.

HAVANA, March 25.—The six bodies fought with the three others, including that of Lieut. Friend W. Brooks, which was probably sent north by the Ward line steamer Saturday. By that time Chaplain Chickwick hopes to be able to identify one as the body of John H. Zeigler, minister of New Brunswick, N. J.

Chief Aide to Mr. Adm. Kirkland.

VALLEJO, Cal., March 25.—Lieut. Commander Thomas S. Phelps, Jr., formerly executive officer of the receiving ship Independence, who accompanied the ship to Washington, is now being appointed chief aide to Mr. Adm. Kirkland.

One Sea Story Another Torpedo Boat.

A most remarkable change has come over the spirit of the nation's capital. For the past two days the president has been summoning before him the great men and true hearted of senate and house, whether republican or democrat, or populist, and has been unbosoming himself to them as though he knew in this critical hour that he could call on all his brothers. He has told them his hopes. He has told them his fears. His frankness has had a magical influence.

Those who called him weak-kneed have belittled his courage. Those who hinted at servile allegiance to Wall Street, those who sneered at his peace-at-any-price policy, those who questioned his sincerity, not to say honesty of purpose—all are now silent. And with a fidelity to friendship that is almost sublime they declare: "We have no criticism to make. We can trust our president, as he is trusting us."

Almost equal to that grand spectacle when north and south, east and west arose en masse and gave the spectacle $50,000,000 for defense, is the spectacle today of the great leaders promising to uphold the president's hand in his present purpose to befriended poor Cuba.

The cabinet holds two sessions and the matter is considered but no information is given. Out-Of-The-Preparations for War—Long Harred Forward.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The court of inquiry appointed to investigate the cause of the Maine disaster has reported that the loss of the battle ship was due to an outside explosion. The state department, by the direction of the president, has called United States Minister Woodford at Madrid to notify the Spanish government of this conclusion. The president and his cabinet advisors held at Madrid the dispatch from the admiral in command in Cuban waters, containing complete details of the findings of the Spanish court of inquiry into the loss of the Maine.

The Spanish government has called officially to Washington that the Spanish naval commission holds the disaster to the Maine to be internal origin.

The government of Spain, it can be stated positively, is not disposed to back the report of the Spanish court of inquiry. The government of Spain, it would be disinclined to consider a suggestion from the United States that it should interfere with the disposition by Spain of her own naval forces.

War preparation on an unprecedented scale is being hurried to completion by the war and navy departments, and the country practically is on a war footing. The foregoing gives the record of one of the most eventful days the national capital has seen since the close of the civil war. It was a day of profoundly important action, of the deepest anxiety, coupled with naval and military activity, and step following step in rapid succession. Representative men of the administration, public men in all branches of official and congressional life, no less than the public in general, shared in the tension to which the situation had been brought. There was no effort among the highest officials nor indeed was it possible from the very nature of the case, to keep the developments of the day to minimize the situation. Viewed in detail, the findings of the court of inquiry was the most vital factor in the case than any other. It was the court of inquiry, judge advocate of the court of inquiry, delivered the report to Secretary of the Navy, and the report was shortly after it was carried to the white house and placed in the hands of the president. At 10:30 the cabinet met, and the report was read and discussed, and began the consideration of the momentous document.

These results, briefly stated, are that the loss of the Maine was due to explosion from the outside, the court being unable to fix the responsibility for the explosion. The court does not express an opinion as to the character of the explosion, but the testimony goes to show that it was a powerful submarine mine, the exact character of which is not determined by the testimony, though the belief was expressed that it was a floating submarine mine. There were two explosions, the court finds; the first was from the outside, and that set off one of the mine magazines. It was this result, expressed in detail and with the precision of a court deeply conscious of its responsibility, together with the evidence on which it was based, that occupied the attention of the cabinet throughout its extended session, and was the subject of much of the talk and action of the day. All other and lesser subjects gave way to this foremost question. There was no change in the plan of making the report public and transmitting it to congress early next week, accompanied by a brief message from the president.

While interest was thus centered at the white house, the navy and war departments were hurrying forward their work of preparations. The advance of the Spanish flotilla continued to receive the closest attention of naval authorities, as far as could be ascertained no definite line of action was determined upon, the need of information was more and more urgent by the highest naval authorities.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—No definite arrangements have been made by the United States government, through the military men in service, but such arrangements will be made perhaps before Saturday, but it is not unlikely that the naval militia of New Jersey also will be called upon to assist in making the defense of the port.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The rumor likelihood that the naval militia of Ohio, Illinois and Michigan would be called into service, navy department officials said that no steps to that end had yet been taken, but the intimation was broadly conveyed that the militia of those states would serve upon the monitors. The department is satisfied that not only the experienced sailors, but also the crews, in addition to the militia, will give a good account of themselves if any emergency should arise that would put them into the field.

War Risk Advanced.

LONDON, March 25.—Lloyds regard the situation as being more Friday and Saturday, but estimated that the war risk was 30 percent on the stocks.

Ammunition and Guns for Ballast Point.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 25.—About 10,000 pounds of ammunition for the big guns to be mounted at Ballast Point has arrived here. This report is in a position to strongly resist a hostile attack.

Spanish Torpedo Boat Destroyer in Bad Shape.

FROM OUTSIDE EXPLOSION.

The Court of Inquiry Makes a Report to the President.

The Court, However, is Unable to Fix the Responsibility.

Should any sufferer profit by giving Pain Balm a trial it will please me." For sale by J. Jas. Wood, Druggist.

The remains of Miss Sallie McKay, after services by the Rev. F. W. Harrow yesterday afternoon, were interred in the Cemetery at Washington.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—JOHN EDGAR, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. Jas. Wood, Druggist.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGANI!

NEWS NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Crown Hill moved down yesterday with a tow of timber.

The Defender, with 21 coalboats and 2 fuel-passed down Thursday for Louisville.

The Coal Barge and E. R. Andrews passed down yesterday with tows of Kanawha coal.

The Bonanza upon her arrival at this point last night at 9:30 was ordered to tie up and wait until the Cincinnati end of the Company is heard from.

The towboats Tornado, Falle and Sam Clark, on their way to Pittsburgh with tows of empties, were fired upon by citizens of Moundsville, W. Va. The shells made by the boats endangered property, and it was feared that houses would be swept from their foundations, as a large portion of the town is under water. The boats were compelled to back down the river and land. Some of the crew had a narrow escape from being shot.

The accident to the Bonanza necessitated several changes among the boats. The Stanley was sent to Louisville. She will return to Cincinnati today and then go to Pomeroy. The Bonanza will be sent to Louisville this evening. The Courier took the place of the Stanley Thursday, and departed for Kanawha river. The Lizzie Bay laid over up the river and passed down on the Courier's time yesterday, and every trade out of Cincinnati will be taken care of as if nothing had happened.

The flood is subsiding at Pittsburgh and headwaters, leaving in its wake a deposit of mud, slime and debris covering thousands of homes, streets, shops and cellars. Not a life was lost through the immediate flood, casualties being confined to railroad wrecks at Pittsburgh. The flood topped the high water of 1891 by one inch, being 31 feet 4 inches. It was the first March flood on record at the Weather Bureau. Old men remember a flood March 17th, 1865, however. The rain up the Monongahela, which was expected to do additional damage, became dissipated, and the latter stream is rapidly approaching a normal stage. About 4,000,000 bushels of coal are being prepared for shipment. The coal shippers were fortunate in not suffering any loss. The heavy March rain is attributed by experts entirely to forest devastation.
